

Animals in Pants* by Suzy Levinson, illustrated by Kristen & Kevin Howdeshell

If you're looking for a very silly picture book, that will appeal as much to parents as to kids, this is definitely for you! And since there are LOTS of different animals depicted here, hopefully at least one of them is one of your favorites. There are cats, raccoons, polar bears, flamingos, and so many more! And all of them are wearing different kinds of pants.

I love the art style used by the illustrators, with bright colors and kind of a collage look. Each illustration matches each poem perfectly. And each poem is very distinct. It's such a fun read! The last pages suggest that there may be a sequel in the works, and I hope that's the case.
