

Christmas Ahoy* by Erin Dealey, illustrated by Kayla Stark

What a fun little Christmas counting book! Instead of a parade taking to the streets, in this town they have a Holiday Boat Parade. All of the vessels are cheerfully decked out in Christmas lights and other holiday décor. Even some the birds and fish get in on the fun, with adorable little hats. The art is colorful and engaging, and kids will have fun counting each of the participants in the parade. In the back of the book, there is a nice little glossary explaining the different types of boats and boards that were in the parade. Such a great festive read!
