

Josh and Hazel's Guide to Not Dating* by Christina Lauren

Gallery Books; 2018

Adult; Romantic Comedy

If you are looking for light romantic romp, check out this book by Christina Lauren. Hazel, a third-grade teacher who is as quirky and free-spirited as they come, has yet to find Mr. Right. She did, however, in college find Mr. Perfect – and no man has quite measured up since (or been able to handle all her quiriness). When Mr. Perfect makes a reappearance – and happens to be her best friend's brother – she decides he will make the perfect addition to her small circle of friends. They embark on a string of joint blind dates to help each other find love. Disaster after disaster ensues, but Josh and Hazel eventually figure out what's truly important.

This is on the spicier side of the romance novel spectrum, but is mostly comedic and sweet. Definitely an enjoyable read when you need a break.
