

Simply Korean: Easy Recipes for Korean Favorites That Anyone Can Make* by Aaron Huh

My husband is a huge fan of Aaron's cooking videos on YouTube, so I was excited to read through his new cookbook. I love that this isn't full of complicated, time-consuming dishes. Nearly everything can be prepared in about a half an hour. I also really like the fact that he breaks down all of the essential ingredients. (Most of which can likely be found in larger chain grocery stores, but I would recommend checking out our local Asian markets first.) For example, I never knew there were so many different kinds of soy sauce!

The layout of the book is great and I appreciate the fact that there are photos of EVERY dish! We have been eating a lot of Chinese, Japanese, and Vietnamese dishes at home lately, so I'm looking forward to adding some Korean dishes to the mix as well!
