

What Never Happened* by Rachel Howzell Hall

This suspense/thriller will have you looking over your shoulder and peering out dark windows! When Coco Weber was a teenager, she found her family brutally murdered and hid in a closet when she realized the murderer was still in the house. Now, as an adult leaving a bad marriage, she returns to Catalina Island, California, where her family was murdered, to care for her aunt and work at the local newspaper. As a professional obituary writer, she notices that the recent deaths are a string of elderly widows. She then starts receiving threats (and her own obituary) – is it her ex-husband, the murderer who killed her family, or is something bigger going on?

This is a great book for chilly Fall evenings! The author has an easy-to-read writing style, intriguing characters, and keeps the suspense going throughout the book.
